UNITED STATES TO MAINTAIN FORCES

In Mexico Until Villa Is Wiped Out.

REDISPOSITION OF SOLDIERS

Quiets Rumor Of Withdrawal—Will Police the Territory South Of Border.

PURSUIT NOW AT STANDSTILL

Washington, April 24.—Behind the formal announcement to-day that President Wilson had approved a plan for redispotion of the American troops in Mexico, there was a plain intimation that the Washington Government had determined to maintain a military status quo beyond the border until the Mexican de facto Government has demonstrated its ability to capture or crush Villa and his adherents and prevent repetitions of the Columbus raid.

In the interim it is understood the American troops will be so placed as to safeguard the border towns by virtually policing the area south of the line, where Gen. Carranza has been heretofore unable to check bandit operations.

Secretary Baker announced the approval of the redispotion plan after consulting with the President, over a joint report submitted by Maj. Gen. Funston and Maj. Gen. Scott, Chief of Staff, in conference on the border. The plan was proposed by Gen. Funston and concurred in by Gen. Scott. The Secretary announced the Administration's decision as follows:

"Gen. Funston has recommended a redispotion of the forces in Mexico for the purpose of recuperation and pending opportunities for further co-operation with the forces of the de facto Government of Mexico. The recommendation has been approved and its execution left to his discretion."

Later the Secretary dictated the following:

"The statement I have made indicates nothing whatever on the subject of when the American troops will be withdrawn from Mexico. The whole subject of withdrawal of the forces is under arrangement and negotiation by the State Department."

Mr. Baker declined to say whether Gen. Funston's recommendation included his previous suggestions that the border base be shifted from Columbus, N. M., to Presidio, Tex., or some other point to the east of Columbus in order to shorten the line of communication. He stated positively, however, that no additional regiments had been ordered to the border and that no such order was in contemplation. The Secretary made it clear also that military officials of the Government were not considering the question of withdrawal from Mexico, that matter being wholly in the hands of the State Department.

It was announced that Gen. Scott had completed his mission to the border and would return to Washington in a few days.

The new military plan leaves the pursuit of Villa at a standstill, but frees Gen. Funston's hands to make the position of the forces in Mexico secure by grouping them in posts of such strength as to protect them from attack by irresponsible elements of the de facto government's forces. It will also serve as a plain warning to Gen. Carranza that he must bend every effort toward securing complete control of the territory south of the most advanced American post if he hopes to have troops recalled.

AMERICAN WAR VESSELS ARE BEING PREPARED

Boston, April 22.—Seven thousand bluejackets at the Charleston navy yard were put in overalls to-day for the purpose of making the thirty war vessels in the harbor ready for sea at the earliest possible hour. It was authoritatively stated that virtually every ship would be at the top notch of efficiency in fifteen days.

The enlisted men are being employed because of the difficulty in obtaining sufficient civilian mechanics. Half of the 7,000 had been recalled from roughs and shore leaves.

"It is a measure of preparedness," it was officially explained, "the necessity of which was increased by the fact that we have been handicapped for months by a shortage of civilian workmen and material. If we are to make these ships ready for sea at an early notice repairs must be completed soon, and it was found that the only way to accomplish this was to put the bluejackets to work."

The vessels to be overhauled include six battleships with a total of about 5,000 officers and men; ten torpedo-boat destroyers, three scout cruisers, one submarine and several auxiliary ships.

DEATHED CONFESSION FREES MAN FROM PRISON

Frankfort, Ky., April 22.—After spending a year in prison for a crime to which another man confessed, Jesse Miller, of Breathitt county, was pardoned to-day by Gov. Stanley.

Isaac Miller, father of the prisoner, had a controversy with Ambrose Fugate and Arthur Roberts at a mill near the Miller home and left to go to his house. Jesse Miller was at home and Fugate and Roberts followed Isaac Miller, opening with a fusillade of shots at the dwelling.

The Millers replied with rifles and Fugate fell dead with a bullet hole in the back of his head and powder marks around the wound. The bullet which killed Fugate was lost until after Miller had been convicted. Later it was discovered that he was killed with a 32-caliber revolver bullet and a storekeeper testified that Roberts, previously acquitted of the crime, had bought such bullets from him shortly before the shooting.

A few months later Roberts killed his brother-in-law and was sent to prison and paroled, dying soon after gaining his freedom. His father said that on his death bed his son confessed that he had accidentally killed Fugate while shooting at the Millers.

JUDGE MERCER DIES AT HOME IN HARDINSBURG

Hardinsburg, Ky., April 21.—Judge Nicholas M. Mercer, 83 years old, died at his home here at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon of uraemic blood poison following an illness of three days. Judge Mercer was born in Wayne county, Ky., December 1, 1833. He came to Breckenridge county in 1840, and had resided here since. For several years he was one of the leading attorneys in this section of the State and served two terms as County Judge of this county.

He was the father of Col. Claude Mercer, who served on Gov. McCreary's staff, and who is one of the two Kentucky commissioners of the Dixie Highway. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. J. H. Gardner, Miss Tida Mercer, of this city; Mrs. J. E. Wright, Mrs. E. E. Sutton, of Louisville; Jones and Frank Mercer, of Texas, and Claude Mercer, of this city.

FIND STRANGER'S BODY IN COFFIN RECEIVED

New Martinsville, W. Va., April 22.—Tearful relatives and friends of Everett Long gathered at the railway station here to meet his body and convey it to its last resting place in the family lot, but when the lid of the casket was opened the body of a stranger was disclosed.

Long is a patient in the State hospital at Huntington, and officials of that institution sent word to his relatives here that he had died. Instructions were given to send the body here, but officials had made a mistake in identity. Long is still living, but another patient, Frank Harmon, had died, and his body was shipped here.

Government Business First.

Paducah, Ky., April 24.—An order from Washington, D. C., has been received by the local managers of the Western Union and the Cumberland Telephone & Telegraph Company to give all Government business preference over other business, which is taken to mean that the Government may desire to use their lines for mobilizing troops in the event of war with Mexico or Germany. L. L. Billups, manager of the telephone company, declined to make public his telegram or express any comment upon it.

IMPORTANT STEPS TAKEN BY TEACHERS OF STATE

Two important steps taken by the Kentucky Educational Association in the final session of its annual meeting at the First Christian church in Louisville Saturday were a declaration in favor of a professional, nonpartisan State Board of Education, and action looking to the establishment of a meeting of the department of School Trustees in November. Both were embodied in the report of the Committee on Resolutions which was adopted at the close of the session.

The Legislative Committee is instructed to take such steps as may be necessary to bring the matter of the nonpartisan State Board of Education before the General Assembly in 1918 in proper form and the Executive Committee is instructed to call a meeting of the department of School Trustees about November 1 in order that adequate representation may be had from the rural districts.

AMERICANS SERVE AS THE TARGETS

For Bullets Of Warring Carranzistas.

UNFRIENDLY ATTITUDE PLAIN

In Every Movement Of the Mexican Troops Concerning the Americans.

A STRONG HANDICAP IS BORNE

Columbus, N. M., April 22.—Dispatches brought here from the front in Mexico by an aviator show plainly the attitude of Mexicans toward American soldiers.

This one was written April 15: "American aeroplanes have been fired upon several times by Mexicans and in at least one case the assailants were Carranza soldiers."

"The latter instance was reported by Lieutenant C. K. Chapman, who flew into camp this morning after an absence of three days on what should have been under normal conditions a two hours' flight."

"Three nights ago, while on this trip, wind and darkness forced Lieutenant Chapman to alight in the mountains about 20 miles from here. He found a ranch in the hills where the Mexicans seemed friendly. They advised him to remain there over night, declaring that the hills were 'full of Villa bandits.'"

"He spent the night at the ranch house without molestation, but the next day, while near a town, with his machine on the ground, a trainload of Carranza troops passed. Apparently for no other purpose than to test their marksmanship, some of these soldiers opened fire on the plane."

"The aviators have come to call this sort of thing 'giving us a little party.'"

This one was written April 16: "An American army officer was fired upon this evening while passing a small town near this camp in company with a dispatch bearer. The shooting was without effect. An investigation was made."

"A cavalry troop located the camp of Candelario Cervantes, a Villa lieutenant, in the mountains some miles from here. Apparently Cervantes' outposts were able to give him word of the American approach. He escaped. Seven horses were taken in the mountain camp. Three Mexicans found in that vicinity were brought, under custody, to headquarters to be questioned. Cervantes has been credited with being one of the men who inspired Villa's attack on Columbus, N. M."

"Although the Americans did not see his command, the Villa bandit was reported to have about 25 men. They made no attempt to stand against the Americans."

The following bore the date of April 17:

"The American expeditionary columns continue to suffer from absence of effective military co-operation on the part of Carranza authorities, and to-day little hope remained that further progress could be made without serious clashes with unruly elements among outlying Carranza commands."

"Because of absence of organized government in some regions penetrated and coldness of some Carranza commanders, promises of co-operation have not materialized. While the Americans in many instances have received considerable courtesy from Carranza officials there has been sniping at other points."

"The caution of American officers against any act which might excite enmity has been a handicap. American troops have not fired on Villa bandits at times because they were not sure of their identity. At Paranal, Major Frank Tompkins, who had only 114 men, permitted only his expert marksmen to return the Carranza fire in order to avoid the danger of hitting women and children, and the effectiveness of the American resistance thereby was reduced."

Army Aircraft Destroyed.

Columbus, N. M., April 22.—Six of the eight aeroplanes which have been used by the expeditionary fliers in Mexico have been destroyed as worthless junk, it was learned here to-night. Two of the planes now are undergoing repairs here.

With the halt in field operations it was determined that none of the planes remaining in Mexico could be used, and all were burned. Captain B. D. Foulis, commanding the first aero squadron, and his entire command are now on their way here from the field in motor cars to equip new planes for service.

COTTON CONSUMPTION REACHES RECORD MARK

Washington, April 22.—Cotton manufacturers used more raw cotton during March than in any one month before in the nation's history. Census Bureau statistics show the 600,000-bale mark was passed for the first time, as far as records show. The exact quantity of cotton used during the month was 613,625 bales, exceeding the previous record month, which was March last year, by almost 90,000 bales.

Indications are that the year's consumption of cotton in the United States will be a record one, as the cotton manufacturing industry is extremely active. Up to the end of March 4,228,990 bales of cotton had been used during the first eight months of the cotton year. That is 651,000 bales more than were used last year in the same period. Cotton spindles active during March numbered 32,032,589, or 1,125,000 more than were in operation at the close of March last year. The number of spindles is a record one.

STARVED SELF TO DEATH TO GET AN EDUCATION

Chicago, April 22.—"Our neighbors have this in common with heaven—they help only those who are perfectly able to help themselves."

These words, quoted from Francis Thompson, who died in a London garret, George Russell Brooke, a student at the Northwestern University here, wrote in his notebook. Nineteen years old, Brooke died of lobar pneumonia.

He had economized and saved that he might gain an education.

Brooke kept his needs to himself. He even returned the money his father, a farmer at Lanark, Ill., sent to him. Often he fainted in the classrooms. Only to-day did it become known that Brooke had existed for months on one scanty meal a day.

CENTRAL CITY DEPOSIT BANK EQUIPMENT SOLD

Central City, Ky., April 22.—The building and fixtures of the Central City Deposit Bank were sold at public auction by B. F. Green, special deputy banking commissioner, M. M. Wheeler became the purchaser at a bid of $6,635. The value of the property as certified by the bank in its statements and accepted by the Banking Department was $21,300. A report of sale was made in circuit court Tuesday morning, and set over by Judge Rhea for exceptions. If no exceptions are made, the sale will be approved and title will pass to Wheeler.

There is a movement on foot here to organize another bank, and if this movement materializes, the promoters expect to go into court with a better offer for the Deposit Bank building. However, it is not yet known whether the new movement will succeed.

DAVIES $200,000 BOND ISSUE SALE POSTPONED

Owensboro, Ky., April 21.—On account of the strained relations between the United States and Germany over the submarine issue, representatives of bond houses announced to-day at the meeting of the Daviess County Fiscal Court that they had been instructed not to bid on the $200,000 of road bonds which were offered for sale by Daviess county. It was announced by Judge J. H. Polsgrove, of Frankfort, representing Tillops, Walcott & Co., of Cleveland, and speaking for the other bond buyers, that the Daviess county issue would bring a better price at a later date.

The Fiscal Court passed a motion to advertise the sale of the bonds for May 1.

AN ULTIMATUM SENT GERMANY

In Regard To Her Submarine Warfare.

THE CRISIS IS NOW AT HAND

Severance Of Diplomatic Relations Will Follow Germany's Refusal To Accede.

PLAIN AND EMPHATIC WORDS

Washington, April 19.—President Wilson's long expected final warning to Germany that the United States would break off diplomatic relations unless she abandons her present methods of submarine warfare and immediately declares her intention to do so, delivered to-day in a note to Berlin, was announced by President Wilson in an address to a joint session of Congress.

President Wilson demands nothing less than an abandonment of submarine warfare against commerce.

Both the President's address and the American note declare in unequivocal terms that only by Germany acceding to the demand for a breaking off of relations altogether be prevented.

The President considers the next step depends solely upon Germany and that three or four days will constitute a reasonable time for reply. He is willing to discuss how the submarine warfare may be conducted within the limits of international law and humanity after Germany abandons her present methods.

Diplomatic history records but one instance as yet where the breaking off of relations between two first-class powers has not eventually brought war—that now existing between Germany and Italy.

Congress received the President's declaration of his course with mixed evidences of concern and approbation. Most of the leaders, Democrats and Republicans, thought the President hardly could do less, and some expressed the opinion his action would not lead to war.

Republican Leader Mann alone, of all the opposition leaders, openly attacked the President for his stand. He characterized it as political play.

The President's words leave no opportunity for double meaning. In his address to Congress he said:

"I have deemed it my duty to say to the Imperial German Government if it is still its purpose to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate war, the Government of the United States at last would be forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue; that unless the Imperial German Government should now, immediately, declare in effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, this Government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations altogether."

The note to Berlin declares the United States Government has been very patient, and has hoped against hope that it would prove possible for the Imperial Government to so order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the recognized principles of humanity.

The United States has made every allowance for unprecedented conditions, and has been willing to wait, the note says, until the facts became unmistakable and were susceptible to only one interpretation.

"It now owes it to the just regard for its own rights to say to the Imperial Government that the time has come."

"If it is still the purpose of the Imperial Government to prosecute a relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels by the use of submarines without regard to what the United States must consider sacred, the indisputable rules of international law and universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States at last is forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue."

"Unless the Imperial Government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of the present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, the Government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether. This action the Government of the United States feels constrained to take in behalf of humanity and the rights of neutral nations."

Bernstorff Cables Berlin.
Washington, April 19.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, sent Berlin to-night a long dispatch interpreting the situation at Washington, and making certain recommendations. He is understood to have advised his government that he believed the United States meant just what it said in its submarine note and that something will have to be done quickly if friendly relations are to continue.

The ambassador himself, having read President Wilson's address and note, said, "I can make no comment either upon the address or the communication sent my government."

However, he was authoritatively described as having advised the Berlin foreign office in to-night's message that he believed at least some such declaration as that made regarding the conduct of submarine warfare in the Mediterranean sea should be issued immediately to cover all submarine operations. That mentioned is virtually cruiser warfare.

'TIS BETTER TO USE KINDNESS THAN FORCE.

[A mother, while trying to force her little three-year-old daughter to take medicine, threatened to whip the child if she did not do as she was told. Passing the door of the family room, I heard these heart-breaking words: "O, mamma, don't whip me, I'm doing it to do it!" I entered the door and said to the mother: "Please don't whip the little darling. I will take the medicine for her myself." This seemed to lift a mountain of trouble from the little one's mind, and a sigh of relief came.]

'Tis better to use kindness than force,
Human minds are not just at their best;

To whip a little weakling is coarse
And brutal and heartless at best,
The little child does what it can
To conquer repulsion of taste;
It has not the strength of a man;
It is cruel to insist upon haste.

O, brutal and selfish mankind!
With ignorance abundant to spare!
Go to work and enlighten your mind
And learn what a creature you are.

Look up to the stars in the sky,
Look down to the grass at your feet,
And think of your Maker on high,
And the poor vagabond in the street.

Just think of the man who is rich—
In his own estimation, maybe—
Is the richer, the poor man or he.

What advantage has one of the other?
You will say to yourself with a sigh,
"They both must return to their mother."

'Tis better to use kindness than force

All along the dark journey of life,
For to wrangle and quarrel is coarse
And it keeps human beings in strife.

But, be sure to be kind to the young,
The weak and the frail of the race;
For when the last song has been sung,
We must all meet God, face to face.

SOMETHING OF OLD KENTUCKY

From the Pen Of One Of Her Famous Sons.

SALIENT FEATURES STAND OUT

State Has Something About Her That Makes Her Different From Others.

BLUE GRASS AND BEAR GRASS

[Through the courtesy of the editor of the American Magazine The Herald is able to publish for the pleasure of its readers a sketch of their native State, written by one of Kentucky's famous sons. It is one of a series of articles on "The Glory of the States," which The American Magazine is running.]

(By Irvin S. Cobb.)

The State of Kentucky is shaped like a camel lying down. The straw that broke the camel's back was the first time the State went Republican. That was in the nineties, and to the community at large the shock was so profound that several gentlemen of the old school for a time thought seriously of taking their letters out of the church. Since then the same thing has happened so frequently that the sight of a Kentucky Republican holding a State office no longer shakes a conservative's belief in the existence of an All-Wise Power; and the camel's back is getting used to the sensation of being broken. It underwent a severe strain no longer ago than last November.

The eastern end of the State is the mountainous or perpendicular end. Here, from the beginning of things, until comparatively recently, resided the congenial feudist and the incurable moonshiner. The latter still exercises his hereditary calling in a cave on a creek up a cove, with a measure of corn to feed his still and a mossy place under a tree for the customer to lie down on afterward; but the gentle bushwhacker has almost vanished. Either he is taking a post-graduate course in chair bottoms at the Frankfort penitentiary, or he has been fatally forty-foured and now sleeps in the family burying ground on the slant of the Cumberland hills, with his still-booted toes sticking up at the lower end of the mound to save cost of foot stones. In his place, that happy child of optimism, the Eastern capitalist, is boring for oil and delving for coal and hacking for hard wood, and meanwhile dreams sweet dreams of eighty per cent dividends.

Somewhat nor' by nor'-east of the geographical center of the Commonwealth, about where the camel would wear his fourth stomach, is the Blue Grass country. While in the company of Kentuckians you may have heard the Blue Grass country mentioned. The native son has a little way of speaking of it casually in conversation. You gather that he is not exactly ashamed of having hailed from that particular locality. He may refer to it as God's country. Undoubtedly, it is. Its conformation is heaven-sent; its politics come from the Other Place. From time to time this district produces a man who would rather be right than President. See published lives of Henry Clay and John C. Breckenridge.

Moving along farther westward, you come to the Beargrass, where Louisville, the metropolis of the State, proudly stands with a halo of soft coal smoke wreathing her brow and millions of silently dropped lower-case r's piled about her high-arched steps; then, in turn, to the Barrens, to the Pennyryle, and finally to the Purchase, having its toes in the Father of Waters, and once in a while, when Father gets rampaging, climbing up on stilts to avoid having its Adam's apple laved, too.

In the western portion of the State is to be found Mammoth Cave, the largest natural orifice on the continent, with one exception. However, the one out at Lincoln moves about considerably, filling Chautauqua dates, whereas Kentucky's cavern is practically stationary, and has been doing business at the same stand ever since the original cave-in occurred. Every year thousands of Easterners who have never found time to look at Niagara Falls go to Kentucky to see the Mammoth Cave, passing on their way many Kentuckians who haven't inspected the cave yet, but feel their education can never be complete until they have gazed upon the beauties of Niagara. This is a double tribute to the compelling eloquence of railroad passenger agents.

The western counties concede to the Blue Grass supremacy in stock breeding, but direct attention to their large acreage of full-sized men, and while on the subject mention, for example, Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis, both born in the same half-decade, in the same section, of the same sturdy stock, and each seeing the light as it was given him to see it, according to his subsequent environment.

Topographically, politically and socially, Kentucky is very much like Tennessee, its nearest and dearest sister. A Tennessean is merely a Kentuckian who was born away from home, and vice versa. It takes an expert to distinguish the difference between them; but the Tennessean has two ancestors who hailed from North Carolina for every one who hailed from Virginia, whereas the Kentuckian has two from Virginia for every one from North Carolina. The Kentuckian maintains that Morgan was the greatest cavalryman that ever lived; the Tennessean claims that honor for Forrest. At one time the controversy reached a point where the disputants were getting ready to take pot shots at one another across the boundary, but harmony was restored through the efforts of a sage who recalled in the nick of time that a great many Tennesseans rode with Morgan and a great many Kentuckians with Forrest.

It has been alleged, and not without some color of plausibility that Kentuckians are belligerent by nature. We do not deny it. The crest of our State shows two gentlemen in swallow-fork coats, holding each other firmly by the right hand. The intent of the picture is plain. So long as they both hold hands, neither can reach for his hardware. The motto which goes with this device is, "United We Stand, Divided We Fall To." By an oversight, the designers left off the word "To" from the end of the phrase. It has been deemed advisable to add it here.

When the Civil War came along, Kentucky, following her own hallowed example, split squarely in twain. Kentucky gave more recruits to the Union than Ohio, and more to the Confederacy than Florida.

We point with pride to these figures. Nor do we have to prove them. We gainsay them.

After Lee had surrendered, after Richmond had fallen, after nine-tenths of the soldiers of the Confederacy had furled their rent battle flags and laid down their arms, Kentucky still declined to knock off and call it a day.

At length, having been convinced by disinterested bystanders that the war was really over, the Kentucky Confederates and the Kentucky Unionists embraced across the Bloody Chasm, and then resumed pleasant and congenial hostilities in the political arena right where they had left off four years before. In order to be sure there would always be enough foemen to furnish entertainment, a considerable number of the Confederates became Radical Republicans and an equal proportion of the Union men joined the shattered Democratic party. Again the situation became typical, traditional and proper.

HUSBAND KIDNAPS HIS INVALID WIFE

While Habeas Corpus Action Pends.

WAS LIVING NEAR CANNELTON

Claims That She Was Not Receiving the Attention Due An Invalid.

DIVORCE SUIT NOW PENDING

The Louisville Times of Thursday says:

Impatient at the delay in habeas corpus proceedings in the Perry Circuit Court at Cannelton, Ind., Geo. F. Fluhrer, a real estate broker of Denver, Col., last night went to the home of his mother-in-law near Cannelton, accompanied by a physician, a trained nurse and two stretcher bearers, and kidnapped his invalid wife, Anna Fluhrer, whose family is alleged to have refused to allow the husband to remove her. Crossing the Ohio river in a launch to Hawesville, Fluhrer brought his wife to Louisville and is stopping at the Victoria Hotel, Tenth street and Broadway, until Mrs. Fluhrer's condition is sufficiently improved to allow her removal to Denver.

Mrs. Fluhrer is paralyzed and almost speechless. She had been at the home of her mother, Mrs. Philip Dick, for the last two years and Fluhrer declared that his wife lacked conveniences for her comfort at the country home and desired her removal to a hospital. Dr. M. F. Wedding, of Cannelton, and Miss L. McGill, a trained nurse who had accompanied Fluhrer here from Denver, supervised the kidnapping.

Waiting until Miss Freda Dick, Mrs. Fluhrer's sister, who was instrumental in refusing to allow the invalid's removal, had gone out driving in the evening, Fluhrer, the physician, nurse and the two strong men who carried the sick woman, approached the Dick home. The invalid was overjoyed to see her husband after years' separation. Mrs. Dick objected strenuously to the removal of her daughter.

Unable to prevent the kidnapping by force, Mrs. Dick rang the farm dinner bells, according to Fluhrer, endeavoring to summon aid from the neighbors. But the husband and his aides worked swiftly and carried away the sick woman before anyone could arrive to prevent it. Once on the Kentucky side, they were safe from legal interference.

"It was a case of 'too much relatives,'" said Fluhrer to-day. "The family had prevailed upon my wife to file a suit for divorce and $50,000 alimony, which is pending in Colorado, but which will be dismissed upon our return."

Fluhrer went to Cannelton several days ago and endeavored to take his wife away. Being met with refusal by her sister and mother, he filed a habeas corpus petition. This, however, was continued in the Perry Circuit Court. The Fluhrers have been married twenty years and Mrs. Fluhrer has been an invalid for five years. Fluhrer says he endeavored to effect a cure by taking his wife to various sanitariums and two years ago she decided she would visit her mother.

The divorce suit was filed while Mrs. Fluhrer was there, but Fluhrer says he continued to send his wife money. However, convinced that his wife was not securing the proper care and treatment and that she lacked many of the modern conveniences for an invalid's comfort, he endeavored last Friday to remove her. Meeting with failure, he decided upon more strenuous measures last night.

Warrant For Fluhrer.

Cannelton, Ind., April 20.—By unexpected change of tactics from legal strategy to personal action, George F. Fluhrer, of Denver, last night obtained possession of his invalid wife, Mrs. Anna Dick Fluhrer, who is suing him in Colorado for divorce, charging abandonment and paying $50,000 alimony. The woman had been bedfast for several months, twelve miles from the city at the country home of her sister, Miss Freda Dick, who refused to let her be removed. Trial on a habeas corpus plea was set for April 28, but at a late hour Wednesday night several men with Fluhrer drove to the Dick home with a physician who pronounced the wife able to be moved and with several helpers, brought Mrs. Fluhrer to the city on a cot in the spring wagon, arriving about 3:30 o'clock a. m.

Miss Freda Dick rode to town on horseback, overtaking the party on the way, but Mrs. Fluhrer, with a trained nurse immediately crossed the river to Hawesville, and there, with Mr. Fluhrer caught an early train for Louisville.

A warrant for habeas corpus has been issued at Miss Dick's request against Fluhrer and false impersonation of officers is claimed against others in the party, but Mrs. Fluhrer has no legal guardian and her husband has kept her liberally supplied with funds at all times.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Cromwell Lodge No. 692, F. & A. M., Cromwell, Ky.

On April 8, 1916, the messenger which will eventually visit every home on earth, gave the alarm at the outer door of our lodge and summoned Bro. L. D. Taylor to pass from his temporal abode here into the great beyond, where there is no more suffering or sorrow, no more sin, no more tears.

Bro. Taylor joined the Masonic Fraternity in the year 1868. He joined the Methodist church in his early manhood days, since which time he has been a faithful follower of the lowly Nazarene and by his admonition and example many homes have been made happier. His words of sympathy have cheered hearts and have given them courage to fight the battles of life with gladness and good cheer. Therefore be it

Resolved, That though we miss his ever ready word of encouragement and good advice, he will ever remain in our memory, and our consolation will be in the recollection of his wise counsel and ministering hand.

Resolved, That Cromwell Lodge No. 692 has lost a worthy brother, his family a kind, loving father, the community a valued citizen, and the church a true Christian.

Resolved, That we tender to the family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy and point them to Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy sent to the family, and published in each of the county papers.

TOUCHING DEATH OF LITTLE NURSE

Spurned By a Faithless Lover.

TOOK POISON TO END IT ALL

Sorrowing Father Sat By Her Bedside As Life Slowly Ebbd Away.

A STRONG LESSON FOR GIRLS

Chicago, Ill., April 20.—The soul of Carolyn Kister took its flight today into the great unknown.

The little Ohio nurse, the unsophisticated girl from the country, who took poison after, she declared, she had been made a victim of man's perfidy—who chose to die rather than bear the disgrace she felt must be hers for life—quietly breathed her last in Washington Park Hospital after a heroic fight.

The scene at the deathbed was one that those who were there will never forget. It was the last gripping chapter in the sad life story of Carolyn Kister. It was pathetic, intense, heartrending.

For hours before the grim reaper stole silently into the little hospital room, through the windows of which the spring sun was shining cheerily and brightly and wherein the white-faced girl was lying so still on her white counterpane bed, it was apparent to all that the end was near. Carolyn Kister had sunk into a state of coma. Her eyes were closed, her hands still and there was just a perceptible movement of the heart. After nine days poison had done its work and death was near.

Half an hour before the girl died the door opened and a little figure of a man, his form bent from much hard labor, his hands gnarled and knotted, his "Sunday suit" hanging loosely, slid into the room and took a seat by the bed.

The man was Jacob Franklin Kister, Carolyn Kister's father, who had come from his farm near Arlington, Ohio, where his girl had been a laughing, gay and happy child, to be present at the end.

The dying girl barely recognized her father. She lifted her eyes and just the shadow of a smile showed on the drawn lips.

Jacob Franklin Kister spoke no word. He sat and stared dumbly into the face of the daughter he loved. His frame shook at times as he tried to choke back the sobs that arose in his throat.

Before him in a vase was a great bunch of white tulips and roses of white shedding their sweet fragrance through the room. The flowers had come to the hospital during the morning. They had been sent anonymously. But there was the following on a card attached to the white blooms:

See how the loving God brings From the blackness of earth these Flowers of snow and fragrance, And doubt not that He will bring From the world's darkness the Souls of His children, white and Beautiful, into His light and love.

That was all. But Carolyn Kister never heard of the message of hope and cheer. She was too near the brink before the flowers arrived.

When the eyes of the little nurse had been closed in their last long sleep, the pent-up emotions of the father broke their hold. The tension of days of waiting and apprehension had been shattered. He wept unrestrainedly and as if his heart would break. His grief was pitiful to witness.

The inquest is set for to-morrow. At that time it is expected that the man blamed for the girl's death will be present. He is out on $5,000 bail. Detectives were sent to look for him when Miss Kister's death was reported.

SHOOTS DAUGHTER AND THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

Binghamton, N. Y., April 22.—Alfred L. Sharpe, for several years previous to coming to this city Collector of Customs at El Paso, Tex., is dead, and his 18-year-old daughter, Holland, is in a hospital seriously wounded, following a quarrel last night between father and daughter, which ended when Sharpe seized a revolver and after shooting the girl twice in the back, sent a bullet through his own heart. Doctors say the girl has a chance to recover. The bullets passed through her left lung and out of the breast. Sharpe until recently had been building superintendent for his cousin, Willis Kilmer, of this city.

Money matters are said to have caused the quarrel which led to the shooting. Sharpe, according to report, had recently lost heavily in a business deal in Texas and his daughter wanted him to relinquish the trusteeship of property left by her mother and turn it over to lawyers in San Antonio. This Sharpe refused to do and the shooting ended the quarrel.

It's a poor brand of charity that sticks to the fingers.

It is the duty of every citizen of the United States who really believes himself to be a true American, to uphold President Wilson in the present crisis of international affairs. It will only be small minded politicians who value the turmoil of the political ring who will disagree with him. Nobody can deny that our country has been patient and forbearing to the extreme limit in our controversies with Germany.
These courtesies have been received with bad grace by the Teutons. The time has now come for action. Let us stand by our President as becomes true patriots.

There has been some discussion in the newspapers recently over the decision of the District Attorney of New York, who holds that poker when played for recreation and not for profit, is not gambling. What a great loophole through which all gamblers might escape! As a matter of fact, all card playing where a tangible prize of any sort—money or other thing—is won or lost, is gambling. You can't make anything else out of it. The word has no definite meaning unless thus applied. Of course the sports of the country want the law interpreted otherwise, but fortunately nearly everybody knows what gambling is.

The law—or the application thereof—in almost every community, is usually what the people want it to be. To a great extent public sentiment regulates this matter.
Those citizens who are afraid that they will incur the displeasure or enmity of the law breaking element by taking action against wrongdo-ers, must continue to suffer from law violations wherever they occur.
A determined stand by public spirited citizens, a united effort to stop evil practices, will soon show the offending parties just "where they get off." Public officials are administrators of the law. To them must come evidence of its violation before they can act.

Fred C. Kelly writes an admirable article in the current issue of the American Magazine on "Courtesy in Business." He takes the broad ground that little acts of courtesy pay a big dividend, both financially and as a personal asset, along all lines of human endeavor. Consideration of others is one of the most vital affairs of life, if one expects to get along well. Especially should this faculty be cultivated in early life among young people. They need not be forward or impertinent to be thoroughly sociable and civil.
The little accommodation, the kindly spoken salutation, build up mountains of love and esteem. It pays in "big business" and also in the smaller affairs of life.

Many of the most prominent and successful men of to-day and other days did not go to college nor graduate from any university. The list includes Edison, America's greatest inventor; James Watt, who perfected the steam engine; Faraday, whose discoveries created modern electrical industries; McCormick, who made harvesters; Arkwright, who invented the spinning jenny;
Andrew Carnegie, James J. Hill,
John D. Rockefeller, Joseph Pulitzer and scores of other men of genius.
But they all had a passion for knowledge and used the best means at hand to acquire it. They won success in spite of the educational handicap, not because of it. The young men of to-day have infinitely better chances of greatness, because of educational advantages, than any of these men possessed.

GERMANY WILL PERMIT EXPORTATION OF DYES

Washington, April 22.—The German Government has agreed to permit exportation to the United States of 15,000 tons of dyestuffs, lack of which has seriously affected American textile manufacturers. Notification to this effect was contained in a note delivered by Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, to Secretary Lansing.

The communication explains that while Germany refused at first to permit exportation of dyestuffs unless they be exchanged for American goods, now excluded from Germany by the British blockade, after careful consideration of the situation it has been seen "that this blockade has resulted in serious embarrassment to those American industries which are in need of dyestuffs," and the Imperial German Government now is prepared to make "a single exception" in permitting exportation in this instance. It is required only that the dyestuffs shall be consumed by American manufacturers and not re-exported to Great Britain or her allies.

HER BABY WAS BURDEN AND SHE GAVE IT AWAY

To Very Willing Foster Parents Who Objected To Its Treatment.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., April 24.—Harry Strother, a widely known lumber contractor of Virginia, and Mrs.
Strother secured a baby under peculiar circumstances while en route here a few days ago. At one of the stations on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, many miles above this city, a heavy-set woman with a pretty girl baby got on the train and entered the car where Mr. and Mrs.
Strother were. She was harsh with the child and her treatment of the little one aroused the ire of the passengers and the Virginians.

Finally Mrs. Strother became so irritated that she remonstrated with the woman, who told her that while the child was hers, she was tired of it and that it was a burden to her and that if Mrs. Strother wanted the child she would give it to her.

Having no children of their own,
after a short talk, the Strothers accepted the gift and when the train stopped in this city Mrs. Strother got off the train with the little burden in her arms. The woman continued on her journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Strother have adopted the little child, whose name is Camelia, and have it with them in this city. She is a beautiful child, about 14 months old and with light hair and blue eyes. The Strothers have become much attached to the little waif.

Nothing is known of the woman who gave the child away.

proval of Ohio County Fiscal Court, and the department of Public Roads, of Frankfort, Ky. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check equal to ten per cent. of the amount bid.

The successful bidder will be required to make bond, at once for the faithful performance of his contract with forfeiture of check if he fails to do so.

APRIL IS OUR MONTH FOR BEGINNING WARS

Four out of five of the greatest wars in which the United States ever has participated in began in the month of April. Thus, if the United States should become embroiled with Germany at this time, it would only be following a well-set precedent.
The dates follow:
Revolution April 19, 1775
Mexican War April 24, 1846
Civil War April 12, 1861
Spanish War April 21, 1898
The War of 1812 began June 18, 1812.

Judge J. E. Williams was acquitted by the Kentucky Senate yesterday of the charges brought by the House, the impeachment charges brought on the second article by one vote, the count being 23 for impeachment and 12 against it.

TO MEET AND CONFER ANENT MEXICAN MATTER

Washington, April 24.—Further development of the pursuit of Villa, and the relations between the United States and the defacto Mexican government now await the personal discussion of these subjects by the senior military advisers of the two governments.

A conference of Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the American army, with Gen. Alvaro Obregon, minister of war for the de-facto government, was arranged late to-day to take place probably at Juarez. Scott now is at San Antonio, and Obregon is thought to be already on his way north from Mexico City. They may meet to-morrow or the next day.

Mexican Ambassador Designate Arredondo announced Carranza had agreed to the conference when he paid a second visit to-day to Secretary Lansing. The first time he called to say his government had asked that some reply be made to the note suggesting the withdrawal of American troops. Arredondo was informed no reply could be made at present. Lansing is understood to have made it plain that Washington is anxious that Scott be given a chance to talk over the situation with Obregon before a formal answer is prepared.

YOUNG MAN SAVED FROM DEATH BY OWN HANDS

Body of Young Farmer of Yelvington Found Swinging at Rope's End.

The Owensboro Inquirer of Sunday says:

Allen Duncan, 24 years old, son of J. B. Duncan, of the Yelvington neighborhood, attempted to end his life early Saturday morning. He went into the barn, tied a rope around his neck, fastened the other end to a rafter and swung clear. A few minutes later he was found, half dead, by his brother-in-law, Fred Lashbrook. They cut the body down and called four doctors, who worked over him five and a-half hours before he regained consciousness.

As far as members of his family know, there was no reason for the attempt at self-destruction. He left the house about 7 o'clock and went to the barn to take several horses to pasture. At the breakfast table he had seemed in the best of health and spirits, according to the Duncan family. A few minutes after the young man left the house, Thixton Duncan and Lashbrook went to the barn, on their way to work in the fields. When they stepped through the door they saw Allen's limp body swinging from the end of a rope.

Two minutes more and death would have resulted from strangulation. Drs. Berry and Atchison of Maceo, Dr. Moorman of Yelvington and Dr. Dan Griffith of Owensboro were called. After using every means possible to restore consciousness, the efforts of the physicians were rewarded early in the afternoon when Duncan opened his eyes, gazing around and relapsed into unconsciousness. Last night when complete consciousness returned Duncan was unable to talk, and it may be another day before he will be able to make a statement. All danger of his death was passed last night.

"I can't understand why Allen should do such a thing," said his father yesterday morning. "His health has been good and he has not been melancholy." It was stated that there was no foundation for the report that he was despondent over a love affair.

Attempt Was Fatal.

The Owensboro Inquirer of Monday says:

At eight o'clock this morning death ended the sufferings of Allen Duncan, 27 years old, who early Saturday morning slipped a rope around his neck and hung himself from a rafter in the barn on his father's farm near Yelvington. For 48 hours physicians tried to save his life, but Duncan was never able to utter a word from the time his body was cut down by Thixton Duncan, his brother, and Fred Lashbrook, his brother-in-law. He opened his eyes once, Saturday afternoon, and then relapsed into unconsciousness.

No reason has yet been assigned for the suicide. Young Duncan was one of the most popular young men in the Yelvington neighborhood. He was liked and respected by older men, who admired his industrious habits and his straightforward manner. His death to-day came as an even greater shock than his attempt at self destruction Saturday, as physicians believed that his life would be saved.

EFFECTS OF WAR WITH THE TEUTONS FORETOLDGermany Would at Once Lose Ships Here Valued at $60,000,000.

Washington, D. C., April 26.—It is now up to Germany. That being conceded, members of Congress are asking: Should Germany provoke the break, and one come, what then? How long before a diplomatic break would be changed into a state of war? The answer is:

"As soon as Germany commits such act of acts as to force the United States to declare war."

There is a very delicate situation. But, it is pointed out, Germany's diplomatic relations with Italy were severed some time ago and Austria, her ally, is at war with Italy, yet the breach between the latter and Germany has not taken on the more serious character.

In the United States harbors to-day are $60,000,000 worth of ships, which would be seized immediately should war be declared.

Germany needs ships, and this would be one point which would influence it against even a state of war, and Washington is hoping for the best and waiting, and, while waiting, getting ready.

"POSSUM HUNTER" RULED OFF FROM JURY SERVICE

Greenville, Ky., April 19.—The uncompromising attitude of Circuit Judge John S. Rhea toward the "Possum Hunters" who once infested Muhlenberg county, was demonstrated at Greenville Tuesday when Judge Rhea discharged Hugh Gish from the grand jury and ordered the other grand jurors to investigate Mr. Gish because the latter admitted that he had belonged to the "Possum Hunters." Gish is a prominent farmer of theighton neighborhood.

Judge Rhea impaneled his grand jury and suddenly asked Mr. Gish if he did not belong to the "Possum Hunters." Gish replied that he had taken the "Possum Hunter" obligation. Judge Rhea immediately discharged him from the grand jury and swore in another man. Then the court called upon the grand jurors to pay particular attention to the case of Mr. Gish, and if it could be shown that he took any part in "Possum Hunter" activity, to indict him without fear or favor.

Rockport, Ky., April 17.—On Sunday, April 16, 1916, the neighbors, friends, children and other relatives met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. People Flee From Town.

Pittsburg, Penn., April 20.—An explosion in the Heidelberg plant of the Aetna Chemical Company, near here, to-day was followed by a fire which destroyed two buildings.

Fearing additional explosions the entire population of the village moved out until the flames had been subdued.

Officials at the plant, which has been working on war orders, refused to advance a theory as to the cause of the explosion, which, with the fire, caused a loss of $50,000.

WOMAN'S DREAM
IS TRUE AT LASTShe Knows Why Multi-Millionaires
Oftener to Divide Fortunes.

To be a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for ten years, and to bear all the tortures, mental and physical, that this all too common ailment brings, and then to find relief almost over night, is like having a happy dream come true.

But this was the delightful experience of Mrs. Margaret Hunter, of 40 Eighteenth street, Newport, Ky. Mrs. Hunter, the wife of a well known and highly successful real estate dealer in the Kentucky city, recently told of the long hoped for change in her life.

"For ten years," explained Mrs. Hunter, "I have suffered from nervous dyspepsia. When I read of the offers of multi-millionaires to divide their fortunes if they might be cured of this terribly distressful malady, I felt that in this way they most eloquently told of their sufferings, and I felt, too, that I would never be cured, because I had no millions to offer."

"I used all manner of remedies without avail. Even the strictest dieting did not help me materially. Food in any form was absolutely repellant at most times. But worst of all, of course, was the constant nerve strain. I had all of the symptoms that dyspepsia causes—headaches, backaches, and pains in the kidney regions, nausea, dizziness, sleeplessness, bad taste in my mouth, a coated tongue, forming of gas in my stomach and bloating, and I was in a generally rundown and thoroughly nervous condition."

"And then came the joyful surprise. After the first few doses of Tanlac I was benefited. Now I am back to a normal condition, nerves quieted, restful sleep, and my food digesting as it should, and, of course, I am gaining strength daily. 'My husband, who has seen the splendid effect of Tanlac on me, has also taken it.'"

Tanlac, that inspired this intensely interesting story, big in importance to men and women everywhere, now is being introduced in Hartford at the Ohio County Drug Co.'s drug store, where it is being fully explained daily.

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns: Beaver Dam, Z. Wilbur Mitchell; Centertown, L. C. Morton & Son; McHenry, Williams Coal Co.; Ceralvo, C. R. Barboursville, Ky., April 19.—Wireless telegraph service is proposed between the Harlan county coal fields and Louisville by the Harlan Coal Mining Company, of Louisville, owners of 10,000 acres and a number of mining plants in Harlan county. Aged Man Drowned.

The Owensboro Messenger says: After several hours' search the body of James W. Hughes, an aged man, was found in Panther creek, the middle of the afternoon Wednesday. Hughes, in company with his son-in-law, David Holmes, and a second man, were fishing in the creek out about Masonville Tuesday afternoon. Late in the afternoon Holmes and the other man started for home, leaving the older man still fishing. Not turning up, a search was begun early Wednesday morning. Hughes was an inmate of the county infirmary, and little was known of him.

STOMACH TROUBLE
FOR FIVE YEARSMajority of Friends Thought Mr.
Hughes Would Die, But One Helped Him to Recovery.

Fomeroyton, Ky.—In interesting advices from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die. I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good."

I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, and quit taking other medicines. I decided to take his advice, although I did not have any confidence in it.

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it.

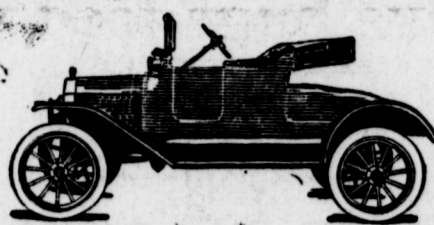

I am so thankful for what Black-Draught has done for me."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.

of Rural Telephone Lines

We are anxious to see that all lines owned by other parties and connected with us are kept in such condition as to furnish efficient service. Where the owners of rural lines are responsible for their upkeep, we want to co-operate with them.

All lines require a thorough overhauling occasionally if the best service is to be obtained. We recommend that every line connected with us be overhauled at least once a year, and that at least one experienced telephone man assist in this work. The cost of this work when divided among all the patrons of the line, makes the amount paid by each man small, and this cost will be more than offset by the improved service.

If the owners of rural telephone lines in this section are experiencing trouble with their service, we will appreciate their talking the matter over with our Manager or writing us fully. We will gladly do what we can toward helping you improve the condition of your line.

TRUTH CONCERNING
THE ROAD BOND ISSUEWe Submit To the Voters Of Ohio County These Facts
For Consideration.

To The Voters of Ohio County.

It is proposed to issue $300,000 of bonds and with this money build the roads from the county seat (Hartford) to each county line, thus completing the inter-county-seat system. It is estimated that this will mean the building of about 75 miles to the seven adjoining counties.

State Aid.

Under the present law the county can issue its bonds, build $300,000 worth of roads under state supervision, and the state will return to the county its proportionate part of the State Aid Fund each year until one-half (150,000) is paid back. Now the county can use this money from the State in paying principal and interest on the bonds; or the county can take care of the bonds independently and use the money from the State each year in the building of new roads or in maintenance. The county thus has the opportunity of building $300,000 worth of roads for $150,000 of its own money.

Can We Afford It?

Considering the benefits that accrue by reason of good roads, we can afford to do it. If we consider this bond issue as a debt, it is not heavy. It is less than 5 per cent of the taxable value of the property of this county; and the taxable value is hardly one-half of the real value. The assessed value of farm lands averages less than $9 per acre. In other words it is about the same as a man worth $1,000, contracting a debt of $45, or a man worth $10,000, making a debt of $450. The advantage is with the county, however, because the STATE PAYS ONE-HALF OF THE DEBT.

How About Taxes.

To take care of this obligation will require additional taxation. Just how much we cannot say, but IT CAN NOT EXCEED 20 CENTS ON THE HUNDRED, and no increase of poll tax whatever. What does this mean? It means that the average amount of taxes on owners of farm lands in Ohio county could not exceed $1.42 each.

Where Does the Burden Fall?

The greatest benefit from good roads is derived by the farming population, yet on them the burden falls the lightest. The assessment for 1916 shows the following:

Total assessed value of all property $7,185,331. Assessed value of railroads, banks and other corporations $2,486,264. Assessed value of farming lands $2,943,511. Assessed value town lots and other property $1,755,556.

These figures show that though the farming population benefits more directly from good roads than any other class of people, they pay taxes on less than THREE-SEVENTHS of the property. Of this the State pays one-half, so the farming population gets the greater use of the roads, and all the accruing benefits therefrom, and pays only three fourteenths of the cost.

It is not meant that everybody does not benefit from good roads. The benefits are to every class of citizen, but most directly and immediately to the farmer.

Why A Bond Issue?

It is better to raise the money for the complete system and issue bonds for the following reasons:

1. Because the people of the whole county will immediately realize the benefits of good roads, rather than a few people get the benefit year by year under the piecemeal system.

2. Because by construction of a large mileage at one time the cost of construction is materially reduced.

3. Because the burden of payment is by this plan distributed over a long period of years, and the people of all the county will be getting the use of the roads while paying for them.

4. Because the tax the people are unconsciously and ignorantly paying for bad roads is many times the tax necessary to take care of a system of good roads.

Does It Pay?

One county in the South spent $100,000 in five years in building permanent roads, and within two years after the road improvement began, the tonnage over the roads increased about 45 per cent, while the dairy and poultry products increased 140 per cent. If this could happen in another county, why not in Ohio county?

In another county in one year after the building of roads with a $150,000 bond issue, the value of products sold from field, dairy and farm increased 40 per cent in one year; while the dairy and poultry products increased over 100 per cent in value.

In five years after Ohio county completes a system of roads, the value of her products will increase just as surely as it has happened elsewhere.

SOLDIERS HAVE HIGHEST AVERAGE OF SICKNESS

Washington, April 24.—Officers and soldiers of the United States army were sick oftener and longer in 1914 than any other body of men which came under observation of the Public Health Service, according to a report on disability statistics published here.

During the year, the report says, 629 enlisted men out of every 1,000 in the army were admitted to sick report. Disability due to disease was at the rate of 498 per 1,000; that due to injury 131. The average disability lasted thirteen and a half days and the average number of days of disability per year for all the enlisted personnel was eight and one-half.

Government employees in Washington, according to statistics covering 16,000 persons, lost only 5.84 days apiece, on an average, for disability, or nearly three days each less a year than for enlisted men. The report says the service was at a loss to understand this, inasmuch as a large percentage of Government employees are in middle or elderly life, while the big majority of enlisted men are in their twenties and are accepted only after rigid physical examinations.

Men employed in the Government civil service, the report shows, lost only 4.82 days apiece from work, while women lost 8.90 days each from disability. Thirteen men and twenty-four women out of every 1,000 were off duty for disability every day.

Told That There Was No Cure For Him.

"After suffering for over twenty years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think it only right to tell you for the sake of other sufferers that as well as your own satisfaction that a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me but cured me within two months although I am a man of 65 years," writes J. L. Grobier, Houston, Texas. Obtainable everywhere. Advertisement.

Worry Ended at Last.

Chicago, April 22.—Judge Tutbill, in Circuit Court here to-day, handed down a decision to the effect that Lord Francis Bacon wrote the plays generally accredited to William Shakespeare. The decision came in a suit brought by William N. Selig, a motion picture man, against Col. George Fabyan, of Chicago.

SINKINGS WILL GO ON,
SAYS GERMAN OFFICIAL

Contents That Submarine Is Germany's Main Implement Of Defense.

Washington, April 22.—The German view of the submarine issue was given here by a high German official. It was as follows:

It is out of the question for Germany to abandon the submarine campaign. A demand that she do so would be almost equivalent to a declaration of war. Everybody understands this.

The situation is simple. Great Britain and her allies, but especially Great Britain, are maintaining a so-called blockade which is admittedly illegal, at least so far as the United States is concerned.

If permitted to carry on this inhuman measure freely, Great Britain might succeed in seriously menacing the civilian population of the central powers.

Germany has no other recourse but to the submarine as a weapon of defense against the illegal blockade. This weapon will continue to be used.

Germany has no desire to sacrifice a single non-combatant's life, but if it becomes necessary to do so in order to prevent war munitions and other supplies reaching the enemies which seek to starve her, such loss cannot well be helped.

Germany has not violated the assurances given the United States with regard to warning passenger liners before attacking them and has no intention of violating them.

As for a break in relations, there appears to be no ground why one should come at this time. Germany was asked for information regarding the Sussex and has furnished it.

Germany also has asked for such evidence as the State Department may have and has not yet received it. The exchanges have been entirely friendly.

NEGRO LEADER IS SHOT TO DEATH IN MERCER

Harrodsburg, Ky., April 24.—John McCowan, a negro, respected leader of members of his race in this county, was shot to death late Sunday afternoon.

Tom Turner, also a negro, was placed in jail immediately after the shooting, charged with killing McCowan. Turner, the police say, had been suspected of "bootlegging," and it is believed that McCowan, who bore the reputation of being a peacemaker among his people, attempted to smooth out some matter, when an argument arose.

Harrodsburg people are indignant over the killing. McCowan for years has been respected by white citizens of the town and, besides being a leader among negroes of the county, has been looked upon by members of his race as counselor and advisor in private and public problems.

PIG CLUBS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Movement on Foot by Big Distilling and Brewing Plants of the State to Organize Boys and Girls Pig Raising Clubs

BIG PRIZES TO BE OFFERED

It is quite likely a lot of boys and girls clubs will be formed throughout the State and a lot of big prizes offered for the greatest results from the feeding of distillers' and brewers' products, or, what is better known as, distillers' concentrated liquid feed and distillers' dried grains.

This comes as a result of the great success obtained by farmers in Davies and adjoining counties in the fattening of hogs from distillers' feed products within the last three years. They say that they can produce the finest of pork at a cost of less than 3c a lb. when it generally costs about 8c a lb. by the feeding of corn.

Right now a large company is being formed to market these products to the farmer and stock raiser. It will be shipped to switches along the various lines in large tank cars, as the railroads are to heartily co-operate with low rates and prompt service and it is likely that large prizes will be offered in various districts to the boy or girl who raises a pig at the least cost fed on raisings thereof of this concentrated liquid feed. The rules to be furnished by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station of Lexington, Ky.

More than 25,000 head of hogs were fattened by Davies county farmers alone last year on this principal product of the distillers and brewers that had heretofore gone to waste or been shipped abroad to stock raisers.
